

MOSAIQ® Survivorship™

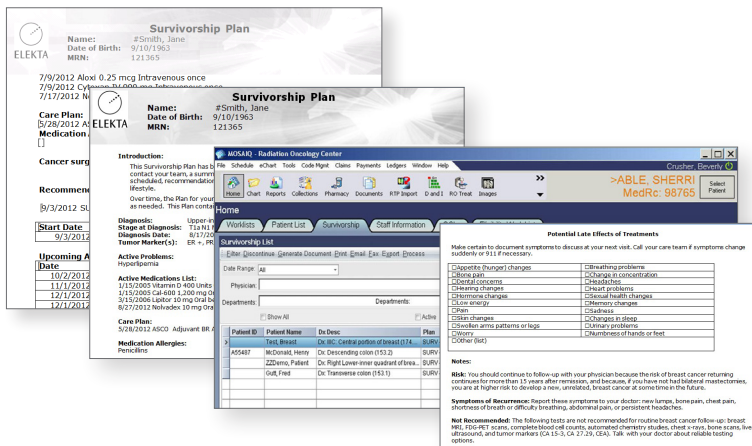

Beyond cancer treatment

MOSAIQ® Survivorship™ toolkit helps you to deliver long term care and support for your cancer survivor patients. Throughout the patient journey, MOSAIQ collects important data covering all aspects of the patient's treatment which can then be used to create a customized patient treatment summary, documenting the recommendations the clinician has made for follow-up based on the patient's specific diagnosis and treatment.

Utilizing our partnerships with leaders in the field of oncology, including the American Cancer Society (ACS) and the National Comprehensive Cancer Network® (NCCN), MOSAIQ Survivorship provides a wealth of patient educational material developed for cancer survivors. The materials include information for many types of cancer that can be accessed and links incorporated into a Survivorship portfolio delivered directly to your patient.

As the patient completes active treatment, the oncologist and care teams can access a library of templates integrated within MOSAIQ Oncology Information System to create a personalized treatment summary, allowing them to plan, track and report the patient's follow-up status. Users can also fax documents and reports from within the EMR to the patient's regular physician. This may also include local support information and guidance for health and wellbeing, long-term adverse affects, self management, returning to work and resuming physical activity.

The improved communication between patient and the oncology team using the MOSAIQ Survivorship program helps increase overall patient satisfaction in the long term, while providing a valuable extension of your oncology practice.

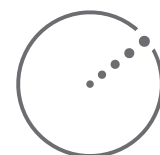

This flexible functionality can be delivered to the patient and to referring physicians by print, by email, by a password protected jump drive, through a patient portal or other electronic and web-based platforms.
